

SURWASH

Nigeria Sustainable Urban & Rural Water Supply,
Sanitation and Hygiene Program for Results

CHALLENGE

Empowering a WASH Revolution with SURWASH: A Data-driven Social & Behavioural Change Communication Campaign.

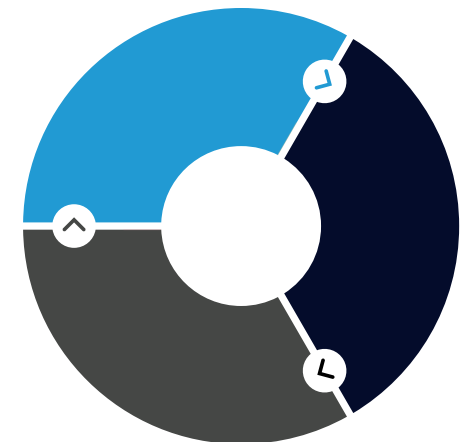

The Federal Ministry of Water Resources needed a strategic communication campaign to clean up Nigeria's sanitation act as part of their nationwide SURWASH program but old habits were proving hard to wash away.

The challenge? To scrub away ingrained behaviors and polish up new Water, Sanitation, and Hygiene (WASH) practices across diverse communities, all while navigating the murky waters of cultural sensitivities.

Key Results:

- Engaged stakeholders across 7 states through 22 key informant interviews and 14 focus groups.
- Facilitated state-level workshops for grassroots input and buy-in.
- Developed overarching communication blueprints endorsed by all stakeholders.
